To those citizens in the area embraced by the Forbes Joint School District, and especially to their elected representatives, the Forbes Joint School Board, we extend our warmest gratitude in appreciation for the educational interest and faith in the future citizens of our country that has resulted in our having excellent, modern facilities with which to work.

The Forbes High School is located on a site of thirty-three acres. It is a one-story brick structure, built of fire-resistant materials. It contains sixteen classrooms, offices, library, health suite, homemaking department, faculty rooms, guidance room, music rooms, cafeteria, gymnasium, locker rooms equipped with individual lockers, wood shop, agricultural shop, storage rooms, and individual lockers in the corridors.

The gymnasium has a playing court 84 feet by 50 feet and is equipped with six basketball bank boards plus various other gymnastic equipment. Folding bleachers and a large stage provide for a seating capacity of 1000.

GREETINGS TO THE CLASS OF 1957:

It is a pleasure to have this opportunity of extending a greeting to each of the 1957 graduates. You have received your diploma, and I hope much happiness in life will follow. I am sure it will if you follow a few simple rules. First, you must get along with others. If you become a griper, you not only upset your own happiness but the happiness of all those about you. Lincoln once said: "There was something good that I could learn from the worst man I knew." Next, I would encourage you to develop good personal habits. By doing this you will enjoy better health. Good health and real happiness go hand in hand. Next in your quest for real happiness you must have the proper relationship to God. People who are truly faithful to God are foreign to thoughts of personal glory or wealth gained at the expense of injury to others. Their energies are focused upon purposes defined by their Lord. In conclusion I say to you, if you follow the Commandment, love thy neighbor, develop good habits, and have a close fellowship with God you will not only attain real happiness but will spread happiness wherever you are.

You are now graduates of a fine school so I urge you to keep in touch with it and support its many activities.

DAVID LICHLITER
Supervising Principal

OUR SECRETARIES

THE ADMINISTRATION

With your graduation you will be leaving the doors of Forbes High School to enter upon a new, and in many respects, a different way of life. Some of you will be going on to college to continue preparation for your life's work; some of you will enter immediately into the industrial and agricultural life of our communities; and still others will enter the armed services of our country.

But whatever you choose to do, I sincerely hope that you will avail yourselves of the boundless opportunities in this our complex and challenging world to make a better and happier life for yourselves. For surely like all others, you will be trying to find real happiness.

In your search for this happiness, the going will not always be smooth. At times you will be beset with struggles and disappointments.

William N. Thomas shows us the way to achieve this happiness when he says: "True happiness comes in giving. The greatest and perhaps the only perfect gift that we can give to the world, is the gift of ourselves at our best, and that means not just the skill of our hands and the cunning of our brains, but our dreams, our finest resolutions, and most solemn promises to ourselves."

I am sure that those of us whom you will be leaving here at Forbes will always be ready to do all in our power to help you achieve the happiness that you desire.

We, the Seniors of Forbes High School, leave behind us the four happiest and most memorable years of our lives. When in later life we review our earlier years, we will find that the moments we spent at Forbes High School were the sweetest we have ever experienced.

We remember our first social function during our Freshmen year: a hot dog sale. We also held a movie that same year to increase our treasury—a trip to Washington after graduation being our final goal.

As Sophomores, we finally became upper classmen. We were an ambitious group, bustling with a newly-found sense of importance at being in high school. We worked hard at our two money-making events, a skating party and a bake sale.

Our Junior year was one of the most memorable of all. It was the year we received our shiny new class rings with the letters "Class of 1957" proudly engraved on them. It was also the year for planning the Prom, the Christmas Dance, the Halloween Dance, the Junior Class Play, a skating party and several bake sales.

At last our Senior year arrived. We were especially pleased at being in the new school; we had been looking forward to it for several years. The sporting events held a special interest for us as our Senior athletes had a last fling at school sports. They did very well in football, basketball, and baseball; and several of them received awards. Many of us took part in the Senior Class Play, not only in the acting, but behind the scenes as well. The National Honor Society induction ceremony will long be remembered. The Junior Class honored us with the Sno-Ball Dance at Christmas and the spring Prom, the first big dances in the new gymnasium. The thrill of ordering name cards and announcements and the excitement of being measured for caps and gowns brought the second semester to an end. As Baccalaureate and Commencement drew nearer, we realized that the years spent at Forbes High had been the happiest years of our lives.

Senior Class Prophecy

The past and present are both full of happy and broadening experiences for the Senior Class of 1957. But the future? Well, let's take a look at it. Close your eyes and imagine yourself in the year 1967 . . . . .

The scene is a large office in downtown Kantner. We are shown in by PHYLLIS MILLER. We also see LORETTA KENNEDY seated near by, busily typing reports. And who's that behind the desk? Why, CARL STRASISER! Mr. Strasiser is now president of the Kantner Airlines Corporation. Carl is having a big reunion to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the graduation of the Class of '57 from Forbes High School. NANCY CARBONE and JAMES TIRKO have been selected because of their excellent reporting ability to find the rest of their classmates. They will be flown here by RICHARD ARMAGOST, a pilot for the Corporation. The stewardess will be DONNA RADER, and SHERIDAN RICE, mechanic, will accompany us to service the plane. Let's go along and see what our former classmates are doing.

The initial stop will be New York, and the first person we see here is JOAN McCLEMENS, fashion consultant. DIXIE JOHNSON is now doing fine as a Powers Model in this big city. While we are here we see HELEN EMERICK, who holds a high position in a law firm on Long Island. Now we will cross the Atlantic to England, where SHIRLEY KEITH is singing a command performance for the Queen. Traveling with her is CATHERINE TIRKO, her makeup assistant and secretary. We cross the Channel into France, where we stop in Paris. Here we see JOAN KOSTRO, a beauty consultant recommended to all the models by Christian Dior. What now! Two American soldiers, PAUL MURO and WILLIAM STUFFT, who seem to be enjoying the night life of Paris. At the French Riviera we see BETTY HOSTETLER and GLORIA NAGY enjoying a dip in the Mediterranean with their husbands.

We take to the air again and head for sunny Italy. What's that we see? Why, the Leaning Tower of Pisa isn't leaning any more since ADAM MOSTOLLER and RONALD DONAHUE, two famous engineers, straightened it. Across the sea in the middle of Africa we see CLAIR ROSEY teaching the natives to read and write.

On to China now. Are my eyes deceiving me? I guess not. It really is THOMAS GARDNER and JERRY LOHR, the famous baseball players who are here with their team, the Kantner Krushers, for an exhibition game. They are surely having a rough time trying to eat with chopsticks.

We'll turn toward home on the last leg of our journey. But wait, Richard. We must go back to Hawaii. As we were flying over the island we caught a glimpse of ROBERT BERKEBILE and RONALD EUTIN in their Sailor Suits taking dancing lessons from the native girls.

Well, here we are, back in the good old U. S. A. The city? Hollywood, of course, where we are greeted by NANCY JO SHAFFER, a beautician who is very popular with the stars. She takes us to the elaborate office of FRED BERKEBILE, famous producer-director. Also residing in California with her husband is the former FAYANN MOSTOLLER.

Ya hooo, Pardner! We stopped in Wyoming to see NORMA REXROTH, the proud owner of a fine horse ranch. She is being visited at the present time by DOLORES BERKEBILE and SHARON CUSTER, who are on vacation from their secretarial jobs in Washington. They tell us to visit Los Alamos because the famous scientific team, BARBARA LIBERTY and MARY HAUSE, are there working on a top-secret government project.

Let's hop down to Denver to visit the exclusive dress shop run by PATRICIA NEWCOMER and JOANN SCHOKORA. We will stop in Texas to see JOHN LEAZIER who is doing very well as an oil tycoon.

Once again we are in good old Pennsylvania. To be exact, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. We visit the Shaffer Memorial Hospital to see GERALD SHAFFER, head surgeon. LINDA METZGAR has made several important discoveries during her work as a lab technician. The former PATRICIA FLEEGLE, now married, also lives in Pittsburgh and does social work here.

Now we will stop in a town even closer to home: Somerset. Located here is the office of the President of the Pennsylvania Fireman's Association. And who is the president? JAMES HAHN, of course. His able assistant is MARTIN EAKLE. DOLLEY PETERMAN, tourist guide for the rapidly expanding resort town, invites us to visit the beautiful Lake Somerset. Why, there's JACK GEORG; he's head lifeguard of all the beach. In a lovely new house along the Stoystown Road we find the former MARY ANN DONITZEN. She tells us happily that her occupation is "housewife."

We will return to our starting place, Kantner, to pay a visit to Forbes High School. We are welcomed back by CONNI GOHN, a teacher in her old Alma Mater.

The future looks bright indeed, doesn't it? But, like most other peeks into the future, it is all wishful thinking. Only time will tell what is really in store for the optimistic Senior Class of 1957.

We, the members of the Senior Class of 1957, express our appreciation to Mr. Kenneth Adams, who has been our class advisor for the last two years. He has helped us very much in our activities and we are proud to have had him help us along the way. In that this is Mr. Adams' last year at Forbes, we wish him success in the years to come.

Festival Queen

The Annual Somerset County Fall Festival was held in October of this term in connection with Pennsylvania Week. The purpose of the Festival was to better acquaint the people of Somerset County with the various activities and industries in the area.

Each school chose a queen to reign over one event at the Festival, which included such events as a Parade, a dinner at Oakhurst Tearoom, a Square Dance, and the Coronation Ball.

The queen chosen to represent Forbes High School was Her Majesty, Joann Schokora. Joann, who has blonde hair and blue eyes, is an attractive member of the senior class. She wore a light green gown, and she made a lovely Fall Festival Queen.

Maple Queen

The Maple Queen of Somerset County is chosen each year from contestants representing high schools of the county. These contestants, known as princesses, are selected by methods which vary with the school.

The winner this year will be Pennsylvania's Queen Maple the Tenth, and the two runners-up will become Maids of Honor. All other contestants will become princesses in the Maple Queen's court.

Miss Shirley Keith, a blue-eyed blonde, is the Maple Princess from Forbes this year. She was chosen on a basis of personality, appearance, and talent by three outside judges in a contest held on January 4 at our school. Shirley has a lovely soprano voice, and has selected as her talent number the song, "Let My Song Fill Your Heart."

The Seniors of 1958 have proved reliable and dependable as they strive for their goal. You can find them doing everything. For instance, they are well represented on the honor roll; they are outstanding in sports; and many of them are active in chorus and band. We, the Senior Class of 1957, wish them every success as they take our places next year.

Varsity Football

The Forbes Jets, ably coached by Mr. Pfeffer and Mr. Statnick, contributed a successful schedule this year reflecting a true spirit of sportsmanship and a real sense of loyalty to our new school. May we always have cause to be proud of the type of athlete that represents Forbes in every phase of its sports program.

Baseball Team

Strike one! Strike two! Strike three! Any player would be out then, but our team was not out, for we won the co-championship of the district during the 1956 season. Headed by captains Ron Bowers and Stanley Greybeck, our baseball team performed to the credit of our school turning in five victories, one tie and one loss. Graduating lettermen are Carl Strasiser, Tom Gardner, John Leazier, Jerry Lohr and Gerald Shaffer. Under the able guidance of coach Jack Dickey, the team is planning for another championship team next year.

The senior class of 1957 leaves with you a part of themselves. The many people who helped to make this possible leave many memories from the 1956-1957 term through the various pictures and descriptions. Beginning with the front cover, which displays a picture of the beautiful new school from which the class of 1957 has the honor of being the first to graduate, there is a treasure of pictures, teachers, students, and glimpses of real fun that was enjoyed by everyone. Last, but not least, we have the advertisers who have been largely responsible for the success of the FORBIAN.

We of the staff wish to thank all who helped with this 1957 edition of the FORBIAN, and we hope that this edition will help keep the memories of events and students of Forbes Joint High School with you always.

Sr. Council

The Student Council, under the guidance of Mr. Charles Lawson, is the student government of our school. There are two representatives from each sophomore, junior, and senior homeroom. These law-makers meet periodically to consider the timely and pressing problems facing the students. The council was very active this year in collecting baskets of food for the needy during the Christmas holiday season, sponsoring the milk and cookie snack after each home basketball game, and initiating the annual "Maroon and White Day" at Forbes.

SITTING, Left to Right: N. Walker, L. Bracken, G. Shaulis, I. Varner, Mr. Zimmerman, B. Holsopple, D. Lohr, J. Mull.

Jr. Council

The Junior High Student Council is composed of twelve members from the junior-high homerooms. These underclassmen assumed their role of leadership when the outcome of a successful magazine drive was announced. This group, under the sponsorship of Mr. Thomas Zimmerman, also purchased decorations for and donated a beautiful tree for the hall of our school during the holiday season.

National Honor Society

(light is the symbol of truth)

Left to Right: R. Donahue, L. Metzgar, N. Carbone, M. Hause, C. Gohn, A. Mostoller, J. McClemens

The National Honor Society, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Evelyn Bittner, is this year celebrating its third anniversary at Forbes High School. This group of select students chosen by the faculty on the basis of character, leadership, service, and scholarship is expected to set good examples in all phases of school activity and to carry this "light" to others throughout their lives. The activities for the term included the presentation of an impressive candlelight induction ceremony for new members; the composition of a junior-senior student activity file, an Honor Society alumni file, and a scrapbook; weekly devotions over the public address system; a tea honoring all honor roll students; a spelling-bee assembly; and the maintaining of the main hall bulletin board.

MAJORETTES

Senior

The senior band, under the baton of Mr. Stanley Mish, has completed another year full of excellent achievements. Joan Wirbick, heading the group of snappy majorettes, led the marching band in several firemen's parades, Memorial Day parades, and at half-time shows during football games. The annual spring concert and the spring band festival were well received.

Band

Sandra Ober, Thomas Ringler, and Conni Gohn represented Forbes at the Central-Western District Band.

The Swing Band presented various performances at school activities. This is a fast-growing organization well received by the student body.

A newly-formed organization, the Band Parents' Club, was recently established to assist the band in buying new instruments, music and other equipment.
